

Solarus – The Local Hosting Service With World Wide Connections

Solarus Web Hosting

Solarus, Central Wisconsin's local telecommunications leader, would like to introduce you to our web hosting services. Think of Solarus webhosting in terms of this analogy: Solarus is the apartment building that supplies the structure, upgrades and maintenance while you get to rent the individual units. Solarus utilizes high speed connections with tremendous storage capacity and with back-up capabilities to safely host your web pages so that other computers will find your website easily, consistently and accessibly.

Solarus has the Hosting Package you're looking for. Choose from our basic package for simple web needs, to advanced packages for sophisticated business applications.

Web Development

Need an e-commerce site? Want your site to be dynamic with apps that serve your clients? What about Flash? A database?

In addition to hosting, Solarus has a complete web design, development and maintenance team at your disposal. Use their expertise in ASP, PHP, Cold Fusion, MySQL/MSSQL and more to develop a site best suited to the needs of your business.

Additional Benefits

Always On, Always Here

Spending a late night updating your website, but need a question answered? One of the hallmarks of the incredible Solarus customer satisfaction rate is our 24/7/365 LOCAL technical support. Rely on us if you ever have a question, and know your call will be answered by a technical service representative working here – in central Wisconsin – day or night.

Dedicated to Security

Solarus is always working to provide the most advanced protection for your hosted data including raid array disk drives and backup. In addition, our servers are housed in a climate controlled, fire protected environment with reliable electrical backup systems like our DC battery plant and power generators.

Hosting Options And Pricing To Match Your Needs

The tables below list the possible combinations of features, support, and pricing. Ask one of our expertly trained representatives to further describe the benefits and capabilities that will best match your company's unique needs for: storage space, bandwidth, rebooting your servers, performance monitoring, e-mail accounts, scripting (the ability to run small applications), and backup services.
